

THE HORRIBLE OGDOLGY

The First Chunk

Before there was America, there was the never ending sea of periwinkle Water, Sparkling and kind. Outside of the Water there was Sky, which was infinite, expansive, and Olive.

Sky and Water fell in love, and their union brought forth many children. Among the many children, eight were brought to presence in pairs. The first born had frogs for heads, and the second born had those of serpents. These are the OGDOD.

The First pair was named Est and West. They were too beautiful to look at together, and decided to part forever. The Second Pair was named Eerie and Claire. They loved their mother more than anything else, and refused to ever leave Water's womb. The Third Pair was named Guld and Demdere-Hills. After Sun was born, they hid from him and his light to protect their giant eyes. The Fourth Pair was named Dak-Hota and Dak-Hota. They became lovers and would not be separated.

Water said to the OGDOD "My work is done. Creation belongs to you now." and the OGDOD raised America from water.

Guld and Demdere-Hills buried themselves in mountains of dirt to hide their eyes from Sun. They are the patrons of the rocks and caves, and the land of rocks is their domain. Eerie and Claire dug five Great Lakes to live forever with their Mother Water. They are Superior, Ontario, Eerie, Claire, and Murder-Huron, and the land surrounding the lakes was this pair's domain. Dak-Hota and Dak-Hota built their land between the others, a small domain just for themselves. Est and West Built on opposite sides of their siblings, as far apart as possible. The edges of the world were their domain.

Sky grew jealous of his children's accomplishments, and sent the Khepri to take the land. After a bloody battle, they were banished to the godless lands, where they promised to stay for the rest of eternity.
